Low Bids Accepted For County School Expansions

The Jefferson County Board of Education Monday night approved low bids for construction of Goldsmith Junior High School and an addition to Wagener Junior High. The bids totaled $1,568,514.

Board members also elected Arlis Cook as its 1957 chairman and Garland S. Cochrane vice chairman under the body's rotation plan of selecting officers and agreed that a procurement director should be appointed to assist the board in meeting its recurring need for teachers.

At present, James Everett Farmer, assistant superintendent for instruction, has been handling procurement duties and employment of a procurement director would give Farmer more time to devote to his instructional duties.

The proposed director, Richard Van Hoose, superintendent, explained he could provide the board with information that would attract them to the county school system and visit teacher training colleges in Kentucky and elsewhere.

No appointment was made however, and no salary was set. County schools were short 19 teachers when the September term began and substituted had to be used until vacancies were filled.

Bids for the 40-room Goldsmith Junior High School totaled $1,24,677. It will adjoin the elementary school of the same name on Goldsmith Lane. According to the board's plans, a high school will be erected on the same property in the future.

The new junior high school will have a capacity of 1,000 and will relieve Fern Creek High and take seventh and eighth grade pupils from several elementary institutions in the area.

On the Wagener addition totaled $433,837. The added space will enable Wagener to accommodate the 10th grade during the 1957-58 school year.

Proposed expansions in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Construction of a senior high school on the Wagener Hubbard Lane site is completed by the school board.

Both the Goldsmith Lane Junior High and the addition to Wagener are expected to be ready for occupancy next September. Work on the sites has begun.

WHAT IS AN IDEAL PHYSICIAN?

The family doctor, representing that beloved type of social personage which used to be most prominent among all local characters, holds a slightly different position in the community today. The scene of his movements and the stage of action have been changed. But it is still true that no man has a bigger task to perform and no layman a greater responsibility to carry.

The public expects much of the family physician — individuals sometimes too much. The early American doctor, practicing his profession in the rural sections, set a high standard of service, energy and devotion to the strenuous task of caring for the sick, day and night. It is reflected in our oftentimes sacrificial service finally being taken for granted, at least to some extent.

So much for what the public expects of its M. D.s. We read recently of one American doctor's definition of "an ideal physician." And it is demanding. The substance of it runs as follows:

The ideal physician, first, must be a man of top abilities, faultless personal habits, and the talent to inspire confidence and a respect in others.

He must be active in community affairs of all kinds, and a frequent church goer.

He must be available to service, educational, religious and other groups which are seeking reliable information on medical subjects.

He must work on and contribute liberally to fund raising campaigns for hospitals, young peoples' organizations, homes for the aged, charities and other good works.

He must be active in local and state medical societies and must be faithful in attendance at hospital staff meetings, as a participant and educator.

He must be a good family man, "with a gracious and tactful wife who abhors mink coats and other vulgar extravagances."

Finally says Dr. P. H. Woutat, of Grand Forks, North Dakota: "But above all of this, he must never fail to give his patients the finest possible medical service, keeping abreast of medical progress by reading, attendance at medical meetings, and taking frequent postgraduate courses. He must be a tireless worker and improve his public relations by spending adequate time with his patients, answering calls promptly, day or night and by not keeping his patients waiting. This must all most certainly be done for what has been vaguely defined as a reasonable fee."

Could his public ask more — or even as much? Or could anything like such a definition apply, or be expected, of a modern-day physician, working under the inhibitions of socialized medicine?

PROFIT FROM EMERGENCIES ESCAPED

We often philosophize on "making the most" of ill fortune. Such an attitude is good for those overthrown by disaster. Even for those who are observers of the reactions that come to the victims of emergencies that bring hardships, there are often invaluable lessons.

Just prior to the recent holidays, a boiler explosion all but demolished a steady high school building at Ord, Nebraska, besides seriously damaging a $320,000 addition not yet completed. Although there was insurance coverage on the buildings, there was no boiler insurance. A city of less than 3,000, its citizens suffered a financial loss. Emergency educational facilities are being provided for 300 or more high school pupils.

Editor E. R. Apking, of the Ord local newspaper, commenting on the public disaster, had some timely remarks and inspiring suggestions. On the subject of "Disaster is Opportunity," he philosophizes, in part, as follows:

"As parents and school patrons we must help along the efforts that teachers will be making with home study, home reading and home recreation to replace the gaps that the school formerly filled. There is little doubt in this editor's mind that Ordites will do just that. We don't believe that a community of which we are pretty proud would do any differently.

"It will be good for all us. We become so accustomed to having the school 'raise' our children for us that we take education for granted as an accepted thing. And now that we have the opportunity to participate in child-guidance and 'bringin' up' in a degree that we never realized before, let's make the most of it. Our schools have been tax-paid baby sitters for a good many Ord youngsters from the time the youngsters were able to toddle off to kindergarten. Here's our hope to get reacquainted with our kids — a heaven-sent opportunity to establish the family group. Let's do it!"

Better realizing what could happen to educational facilities in the Jeffersonson area, may the good people here, thankful that it has not happened, appreciate and consider, with profit to ourselves, Editor Apking's encouraging remarks. His factual references could be applicable and well to know before the coming of any such emergency, as well as after.

Well Christmas has come and gone. Like the old daddy said, "I'm sure glad it's over, cause if I live through it I always live to the next Christmas." That's more than a lot of folks can say this morning. They've become statistics on the Safety Council ghoulish roll. The wild alcoholic celebration of Christmas has a lot to do with the death-dealing of alcohol. It's more than a convert to our "way of living." For instance, a native artist in Indonesia decided to commercialize the great Christmas holiday by designing and selling Christmas cards to Western business and tourists. His design: a picture of Christ on the cross, plus a Santa Claus dancing and waving a bottle. He found no buyers, but his prospects could be applicable and well to know before the coming of any such emergency, as well as after.

A banquet will be held the night of the conference.

Proposals were submitted by Commissioners of Welfare Commissioners of Welfare Commission at a Frankfort meeting to construct a combination chapel and recreation building at the LaGrange Reformatory and a chapel at Kentucky Children's Home, Louisville.

Two local Armstrong, Louisville architects, were directed to compare costs of the type building recommended by the Department of Welfare and other types to determine which could be adequately financed. The architects were also to revise plans of an earlier chapel which had not been planned for the Children's Home. Structural steel now on hand would be used to construct the latter building. They are to present findings within seven weeks.

The Reformatory chapel would seat approximately 1,800 persons and the Children's Home chapel about 240.

Gov. A. B. Chandler has been praised by a national Greek-letter fraternity for sending troops to Sturgis last year to prevent disorder and bloodshed.

A resolution adopted by Phi Beta Sigma as its convention recently at Miami "approved and commended" Gov. Chandler "for his earnestness of purpose and swift delivery of justice in calling out the Kentucky National Guard and State Police to avert possible tragedy at Sturgis during the matter of school desegregation."

The resolution said the incidents involved "the rights of Negro school students on an integrated basis" and kept in touch with a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision on this question.

Mailing of 1956 income tax returns to taxpayers has been completed according to Revenue Commissioner E. R. Apking.

Persons who have not received a return in the mail may get one at Department of Revenue field offices located in Frankfort, Louisville, Paducah, and Paducah, at any courthouse, and at the post office, Luckett said.

Luckett reminded wage earners that the Ford K-1 (standard of earnings) and taxes withheld must be attached to their income tax return. Therefore, they should not file returns until they receive the K-1. Employers are required to furnish copies to employees not later than January 31.

Because of changes in Kentucky's income tax law, Luckett said, individuals who pay taxes will be taxed at home. In our little Fidelity neighborhood there were only a few books, relatively speaking, and some of them had as much as a high school education of that time or ours; our poor little school was taught by teachers who had had little or nothing beyond eighth grade work; our leaders were preachers, were plain ignorant.

But in spite of this outward appearance of ignorance and backwardness, there were several thousand of women of the community who could have completely at home in the most intellectual groups. With a bit of effort reading can a whole head of hair grow on a person's head, arrived at conclusion that that would have made them famous if they had not lived in such a God-forsaken place as Gray's dead, who once inhabited a small English country village.

So intelligent were some of these that I was astonished to find, when I went to college, that many of my teachers, with all their knowledge and education, had not come as far as some of the folks at Fidelity in learning.

The number participating in the 1955-56 year was 1,238, the Department said. It added: "These schools received $41,167,069 for grants for an average of 21.5 cents each and spent $12,470,422 for labor and equipment.

The program was inaugurated in 1943-44, only 450 schools participated.

The U.S. Agriculture Department located $295,272 to Kentuckians for programs during the current school year, about a half million dollars more than last year's allocation.

During the 1955-56 year, 3,227 Kentuckians participated in the school lunchrooms as cooks and managers. Merchants, wholesalers, farmers and other business people benefit from the program as well as the school children.

Kentucky last year reaped what may be the greatest volume of industrial growth of any 12-month period in the state's history.

A joint release by the State Department of Economic Development and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce said new manufacturing plants and expansions of existing ones announced during 1956, are expected to result in nearly 17,000 additional jobs, an investment of 55 million dollars in payroll and more than a quarter of a billion dollars in plant investments.

The wage and employment estimates are equivalent to about one-third of all manufacturing activity in the state during 1955, the release said.

A total of 75 companies disclosed plans to locate new production facilities in Kentucky last year.

A state-wide conference for local boards of education will be conducted at Frankfort January 21-23 to recruit new board members with their responsibilities and duties.

The conference is sponsored by the Kentucky School Board Association. Speakers will include Gov. A. B. Chandler, Attorney Gen. M. Ferguson, and Dr. Ernest R. Martin, state superintendent of public schools.

A banquet will be held the night of the conference.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Always — the Forgotten Man!

UNEXPECTED LEARNING

The more books I have read and the moral education has been tried to acquire, the more I have tried to learn, the more I have learned. The more I have learned, the more I have been exposed to learning that primitive communities used to have. ### Righteousness

Lesson for January 20, 1957

RIIGHTEOUSNESS is an old-fashioned word. You almost never see it outside the Bible. But the thing itself is old fashioned, you can see it outside the Bible; nearly everybody wants it himself and everybody wants it for his neighbor. Even critics count on it—in other people! That did originally come in (the Bible) from the Hebrew word meaning "straight." To this day everybody knows what the difference is between a straight man and a crooked one. We mean the straight man sometimes when we Dr. Foreman use only the first part of the word, "right." We like to be right, we like to have the right people around us. "He just not right" is one of the worst things that can be said about a man. A righteous person is one that is all right he should be. He likes to stand hard, there is nothing shoddy or make believe about him. To be sure, some people don't care about that but then some people don't care whether they are healthy or clean.

Better Than the Best

One of the things Jesus said that must have been surprising at the time he said it, was that the righteousness of those who followed him must "exceed that of the Pharisees." Now the Pharisees were a kind of righteously. They were super-good, or aimed to be. They had money, and leisure, and they were more than likely to be better than anybody. They were, so to speak, the athletes of morality. They held all the records for high jumps and pole vaults to the top levels of righteousness. Nobody could ever try to be as good as they were. So it must have astonished everybody, not to mention the Pharisees, when Jesus as good as said they were not up to the standards of the kingdom of heaven. If we look into what Jesus says by way of explaining this astonishing remark, however, we can see that he was not the Pharisee's idea of what it is to be righteous—right in the sight of God, that is—comes short of the true ideal. First of all, Pharisees were interested in action only. Now acts are very important. But as Jesus explained it, actions come from inner attitudes, and attitudes are attitudes, words, acts are likely to be wrong too. True righteousness, or rightness, begins and has its roots in "the heart," the inner life, the inner being. The truly right person will not be content with making a good showing, he wants to be right even if it never shows.

Me Fences for Love
So the rightness Jesus demands goes deeper than what satisfied the Pharisees, ancient and modern, learned and unlearned. Jesus' ideal of rightness is also broader than the Pharisees' brand. They loved their neighbors and would be great for those who did a lot. Jesus pointed out that anybody not a complete fool will do a lot for his friends. "I'll scratch your back and I'll scratch yours" is a philosophy almost anybody can understand. Loving people who judge you and others is not the exact thought that prompts a Christmas time. Some people "give" a great many presents, at least they wrap them up and distribute them; then they don't give a thing unless they expect to get a gift in return. The Pharisees, ancient and modern, know what love is, but they do not "give" love on those who do not in some way pay them for it. Jesus went all the way out far to that to say, "Love your enemies, take him. Love your enemies, he said. Love is good, the Pharisees were on the right track. But love must be born out of the horizon.

Why Be Good?
The kind of rightness God wants has another sure mark: it has the right motives. The Pharisees wanted to be right so as to be admired by others. Jesus' kind of rightness has just one motive: to be like our Father in heaven. To wish to be God,—to "play God," is wickedness. It is the opposite of the very heart of the truly good life. Love God so much, and know him so well and never so well as in Christ, that in that think of him as better than to be like him. All other motives fail, some time; but this one motive carries the secret of the power of God's love.

SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM

Here is the Sanctuary where men meet God. It is where His message is spoken to the careless, sinful and needy... WHERE MEN ARE MOLDED FOR HIM. This is the church — where men bow to the God of forgiving grace. Partner, if you haven't been a regular attendant, you are missing much. It is a place where we can kneel in prayer, enjoy religious fellowship and receive help for the difficult task ahead. If you will join me here at church, in the spirit of humility, and recognize God as father, friend and Saviour, right then YOU'LL BECOME ONE WITH THE COSMIC LIFE.

A Key for the MODERN FARMER

January 28 Is Date For Beginning of '57 Acreage Reserve Plan

Roy C. Gray, chairman of the Kentucky State A.S.C. Committee has announced that January 28 will be the beginning of the sign up period for the 1957 acreage Reserve program. Gray stated that the compensation for participation in this program will be determined by using the normal farm productivity index for corn and cotton. He went on to say that the maximum acreage for the farm must be based on the 1956 Acreage Reserve program will be for corn 20 acres or 30 per cent of the allotment; cotton 10 acres or 30 per cent of the allotment, and for all other crops one acre at 30 per cent, whichever is larger for each commodity.

The agreement will be approved on the maximum acreage to the extent of the county, after that the "first come first served" basis, in the order in which they are filed by the producers in the county office.

Gray further stated that producers may indicate his desire to place more than his maximum acreage limitation in the Acreage Reserve program, with the additional amount is available provided it is available after the final sign-up date.

The deadline for signing these Acreage Reserve agreements will be March 1. For certain types of tobacco March 8 for non-eligible crops for Kentucky are corn, cotton, wheat, barley, rye, and dark air-cured. However, the final date for entering into the 1957 wheat Acreage Reserve Program was October 3, 1956.

It was pointed out that persons interested in entering into an Acreage Reserve agreement should contact their local A.S.C. county office.

Briscoe Lane

By Mrs. Charles Goatey

Happy New Year to all The Jeffersonian staff and all the correspondents. The old year of 1956 has gone forever. We go into the new year with a feeling that all is well as before and maybe a little better if we put the Lord first in all we do.

The High View Church of Christ had 140 in Sunday School and conducted a almost full house for preaching and communion services. Part of our sick is back with us, but there is still quite a number out. Brother Curnin and Mr. Brewster has returned from a trip to the Near East and China.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buckles were supper guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer called Thursday night on Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman and enjoyed ice cream and cookies.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Riddle visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman.

Sunday evening and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kinberger, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eldridge, Mr. Vernon Kaufman and daughter called Sunday morning.

Mr. Morris, father of Mrs. Allen Kaufman is very ill in St. Joseph Infirmary.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kaufman called Sunday evening on Mr. and Mrs. Leo Greenwell. Mrs. Greenwell is still under the care of her doctor.

Wednesday the Rev. Mr. Thornberry and sisters, Gertrude and Ruth, called Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. L. E. Kaufman.

Mr. Leo Kaufman, son W. L. and grandson, of Michigan, visited three days with relatives here. They spent time with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Irene Kaufman, Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tyler and Linda entertained them and showed motion pictures. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer and children, Miss Irene Kaufman, and Mrs. Clarence Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer and Mrs. J. T. Sander, all driven in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer entertained the Kaufman and Tyler relatives.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tyler visited Mrs. Robert Covington at St. Anthony's Hospital and found her doing fine. They later visited Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mr. Fredrick at Bethel Baptist Hospital.

Miss Linda Tyler was a Sunday visitor of Miss Jane Meadows.

Whiston Lane Baptist Mission is progressing nicely. There were two additions Sunday.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, Hodgenville, Mr. and Mrs. John and Mrs. Bill Rogers visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hickey and Mr. Coffey Akridge.

Miss Bernice Thorne called late Sunday evening on Mrs. Harvey Tyler.

Monday Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parrott and children spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Parrott and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman, Nightingale Road are enjoying a 1957 model automobile.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. Phil Hind. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Cyril. His sister, Anne Lawton, was my school teacher for five years. Also my heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Fifer's family over her passing. These folks will be greatly missed by all who knew them.

(Delayed)

New Year's Day Mr. and Mrs. Bessie Stillwell entertained with a turkey dinner and topped with the all the trimmings. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman, Bobby and Joyce Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. George Case, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ellingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Stillwell, Norman and David Stillwell and Mr. Leo Eldridge. All the Okolona Baptist Church members are ready for services Saturday at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Purina Super Chick Startena Sweepstakes

Ten modern aluminum caged hen houses, each stocked with 1,000 top-bred hens, will be given by theRalston Purina Company to the 10 winners of the nation-wide sweepstakes which the company and Purina dealers will launch late in December, it has been announced by Check-R-Board, local Purina Dealer.

The sweepstakes will be open to any adult who is planning to start chicks in 1957, except employees of feed manufacturers and dealers and their families. Entrants will fill out entry blanks and take or mail them to their local Purina Dealer who in turn will send all entries to Purina Headquarters. Entry blanks will be published in newspapers and magazines and will also be available at Purina dealer stores.

After the contest closes March 16, a drawing will be held in St. Louis, at which time 10 entries will be drawn out of the entire group by Don M. Turnbull, Executive Secretary of the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation. The persons whose names are drawn will be the winners.

The purpose of the sweepstakes is to establish more top-light caged-hen operations in different parts of the country. The caged hen method of producing eggs has been spreading rapidly in both warm weather and cold weather areas. In this system, hens are placed in individual cages which they never leave until after their productive days are over.

BUY-NOTES ON FOOD

From Extension Service, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

January and February mark the months of peak supply for fresh Florida oranges. Prices for oranges are greatest in January, so at this time, oranges are generally at their lowest price in their price cycle.

Sizes of fresh oranges vary from season to season reflecting climatic conditions in the growing area. For example, dried Florida in 1956 is now easily found in the markets in a large crop of small sized oranges. Thus the shopper's best buys are in January since they are most abundant.

Citrus juice of fresh and frozen citrus is about equal; however, canned juice may be sweetened. (The label will give you this information.) Naturally, when shopping for citrus juice, look for juice heavy for its size.

Other fruits do not ripen often, but when they do, they are picked, consequently maturity laws have been set up to guarantee the ripeness (flavor, juice content) of oranges shipped to market.

When you buy oranges, buy fruit that is free from soft or mold spots, pleasant in color, thin skin for easy eating and heavy for its size.

Oranges are such an outstanding source of Vitamin C that they are — along with other citrus products — a spot unto themselves.
